Brexit policy

Having been established since 1984, EC Electronics has weathered many storms and adapted to an ever-changing business landscape. Our view on Brexit is that we will continue to offer innovative Electronics Manufacturing Services to our customers, whatever form the final Brexit deal takes.

Since expanding our business in 2006 with a new facility in Romania, we have a foot firmly in 'both camps' and will continue to use this leverage to promote our business and the interests of our customers.

The EC Electronics global supply chain will also ensure that we continue to source components from the most appropriate location, while our expanding facilities in the UK will mitigate any risk of global isolationism.

We will continue to review our Brexit policy and supply any further updates in line with political developments.
